

Greg D'Ambrosio

Risk Management Advisor
Praxiom Risk Management, LLC

Greg D'Ambrosio joined Praxiom in 2014 as a Risk Management Advisor and has over 20 years in the insurance and PEO industry. Greg began his career at Fireman's Fund Insurance Company. After holding positions in operations and auditing, he spent most of his career at Fireman's Fund as a Commercial lines underwriting manager responsible for workers' compensation and commercial automobile lines of business.

After over a decade at Fireman's Fund, Greg held executive level risk manager positions in the PEO industry where he was responsible for the procurement of all commercial insurance, developing and directing risk management strategy, ensuring delivery of the risk management value proposition, and managing large books of business to successful, profitable outcomes.

Greg also served as Vice President at a commercial insurance brokerage firm responsible for the design and marketing of insurance programs. Program structures included large deductibles, self-retention and alternative risk programs for PEOs (as well as other large entities) with an emphasis on workers' compensation and employment practices liability insurance.

He graduated from Seton Hall University with a Bachelor of Science degree in education. He has obtained the Associate in Risk Management and Associate in Underwriting designations from the Insurance Institute of America. He is also is a licensed insurance agent in the State of Florida. Greg has served on the NAPEO Board of Directors as Vice President of Florida Association of Professional Employer Organizations (FAPEO), has authored several articles for the PEO Insider magazine, and has appeared as a featured speaker at both the annual NAPEO and Florida Workers' Compensation conferences.